Emerging Rapper Princess Rock Debuts First Single, “Doo Wop”
Philadelphia born and raised rapper seamlessly delivers a fresh, modern, yet classic rap sound

DECEMBER 30, 2020 - When it comes to balancing classic rap with contemporary musicality, not many rappers today can do the job, but one on-the-rise rapper named Princess Rock has already done it. The release of her first single, “Doo Wop”, is demonstrating her flawless rapping abilities which go far beyond mere vocals; she is a songwriter in her own right.

What’s perhaps surprising to many who hear her music for the first time is that Princess Rock is still a teen. She might only be fifteen years old, but Princess Rock is etching her own place in rap royalty. Citing influences such as Drake, Teyana Taylor, and Big Sean, Princess Rock wants to in particular inspire young girls with her unique musicality. In person, Princess Rock has a big personality to match her sound, and being a Philadelphia native, she has been steeped in authentic rap in a tradition that began as a child.

The daughter of two musically inclined and talented parents, Princess Rock quickly grew her raw talents into a force to be reckoned with.

Princess Rock is part of the Global Excalibur Music Group Family, an independent record label and multimedia entertainment company whose lineup includes some of the most sought after aspiring artists on the scene today such as Shawa, Queen Victoria, and Byzantine.

According to a spokesperson for Princess Rock, “She writes most of her music so she hopes the music connects, resonates, and inspires others through the power of the pen.”

“Doo Wop” perfectly encompasses Princess Rock’s energy, style, and talent in one irresistible single. With sharp lyrics and sound, Princess Rock leaves it all on the table in the song’s 3 minute and 26 second runtime, and it will leave listeners pressing play again and again.

It would seem that Princess Rock is just laying the foundation for a long career in rap. In her own words: “Music is what I love. I’ve been around it my whole life. I wanted to make music that uplifted girls and empowers all of us to never give up on our dreams.”

“Doo Wop” is now available for streaming and download at major services such as Spotify, and the new single is already seeing a rapid spike in plays as Princess Rock begins to cultivate a following of her own.
